Dubai, 04 May 2010 – Eton Institute announced Oleg Nikityuk from Kazakhstan as the lucky winner of the Apple iPad lucky draw for the month of April. Oleg, who is residing in Dubai and learning Arabic at Eton Institute, was awarded the much-desired Apple iPad pre-loaded with useful language learning applications after his name was randomly selected from a lucky draw of students who had registered for a course during the month of April.

Expressing his delight at winning an Apple iPad and sharing his experience learning at Eton Institute, Oleg remarked: “I was really surprised when I found out that I won. I want to thank Eton Institute and its staff for making the educational process so interesting and interactive. I'll choose Eton for my further study and will advise it to my friends.”

Eton Institute offers a special prize every month as an added value to learners registering for a course during the month. The institute has in the past given away valuable prizes such as a state of the art Netbook computer and an iPod Touch. It picked over 10 winners on a single day while celebrating its 4th Anniversary in Dubai.

Hinting at plans to offer a ‘grand prize’ this summer as a reward for their community of learners, Dr. Eli Abi Rached, Director of Eton Institute, commented: “You are not going to believe what we plan to give away this summer as a grand prize; Just as a teaser of what to expect, the prize will truly take you places and something of this scale has never been given away by any training institute in the region. When we say grand, we mean it!”

Eton Institute conducts special ‘Summer Super Intensive’ courses every summer in English and Arabic which involve 60 hours of intensive learning over just 3 weeks. The popular courses are ideal for learners who would like to boost their language skills or learn a new language in the shortest possible time. On-campus accommodation and visa facilities will also available at specially negotiated rates for international learners who would like to enroll for these immersion courses in Dubai.
