Dubai, 08 February 2010 – Eton Institute, a leading training & development institute based in Dubai has announced the winner of its special January iPod Touch giveaway. Iryna Lityanska, a Ukrainian native currently learning Arabic at Eton Institute was declared the lucky winner after being randomly selected through a draw from the group of eligible students who enrolled for a course during the month of January.

With the brand-new iPod Touch in her hands, Iryna could not be more excited about her win. Describing how she felt, she remarked: “Wow! I am speechless. I am really happy to have won such a great prize and I will definitely enjoy it! Thank you very very much for this opportunity.”

Speaking about her experience learning at Eton Institute, she added: “I was planning to learn Arabic since some time already but I was just waiting for the right timing. When I heard about the festive December offer from Eton Institute, I decided that this is it and I should give it a try. That's how I signed up for a month of free Arabic classes. I enjoyed the group so much that after the group finished, I decided to continue with the course even further. Even the fact that I live and work in completely opposite direction could not stop me! What I especially love about Eton is the variety of languages (I am still planning to sign up one day for Italian or Spanish!) and also very helpful and pleasant staff. There is just a very enjoyable atmosphere over here.”

Eton Institute, specializing in language training, offers over 100 languages, teaching certification and diploma courses, computer workshops and tailor-made corporate and teacher training solutions for organizations and schools respectively. The institute features exciting giveaways and free offers every month for its loyal community of students and will be awarding one lucky registrant a power-packed portable Netbook computer during the month of February.
